A fairly reliable source.

1. The restoration work on the Prinz-Moritz Kaserne, Stralsund (N 55/P 44), proceeded rapidly in late August and early September 1950. It was said that the installation would be occupied by VP units. At the time of observation one barracks building was still occupied by civilians and the former headquarters building by a small Soviet naval unit.
2. The barracks installation on Daenhelm Island, off Stralsund, which quartered personnel of the nationalized shipyard, was inspected by a commission of VP officers and some civilians on 31 August 1950. The VP officers included two who ranked as lieutenant colonels and wore a silver-embroidered "Q" on a green field on their upper left sleeves. *

25X1A [REDACTED] Comment. The fact that the commission inspecting the barracks on Daenhelm Island included two VP Kommandeure with the Grenzpolizei insignia indicates that the Stralsund Grenzbereitschaft of the Grenzpolizei Nord may soon move to the installation. It is also considered probable that elements of the Grenzpolizei Nord may be reassigned to the Seepolizei (Sea Police).
